

HOST

Host at a hatchery or wildlife area in your own RV. Duties may include landscaping, welcoming visitors, or other duties aligned with your skills and interests.

Volunteer hosts and RV hosts are asked to make at least a 30-day commitment and to provide 20 hours per week in service to support various ODFW needs. RV Hosts receive a site with full hookups, at no charge, during the time of their volunteer service. Hosts may be asked to welcome visitors and participants to ODFW properties and events or to maintain grounds near or adjacent to their site location. Host volunteers may also help set up and take down at events, register participants, help track volunteer hours, or a variety of other duties, as agreed, to fit your skills and personality. Volunteer RV hosts live onsite at ODFW hatcheries and wildlife areas at a beautiful, remote location. There are over 30 beautifully unique locations across Oregon relying on support from RV Hosts. - RV owners who enjoy traveling to and around Oregon, staying in beautiful remote locations. RV Hosts must have good driving records and clean backgrounds. Hosts may work independently or as part of a team depending on needs at the local facility. Most ODFW RV hosts are retired, semi-retired or otherwise have the flexibility to be onsite as needed. RV Hosts may be from Oregon or from anywhere that has a highway leading to Oregon.
- Work and live in beautiful remote locations. Hosts may work on a variety of indoor and outdoor tasks.
- Some RV Host or host assignments are as short 30 days, but others could be longer depending upon the needs of ODFW and the availability of the host some lasting several months at a time. Many ODFW RV hosts return time and again!
